Learning Tips

Your learning and development plan may include referring back to Basic Pharmacoeconomics course material, reading other material, consulting web pages, discussion with colleagues or attending a webinar or seminar. We recommend that you consider the following suggestions to optimize your learning and apply the knowledge you acquired into practical skills:

- Rather than reading an entire course, explore the table of contents to assess which sections are most relevant to you. Read these sections first.
- Search for one insight or application in everything you read. Draw conclusions and search for meanings relevant to your development.
- While reading, highlight or bookmark sections that you deem interesting or applicable to you. Consider creating a summary to help you convert knowledge into action the next day.
- Be open to new ideas and innovations. Assess how you can implement them in your own area. Refine your ideas by discussing them with colleagues.
- Build time into your schedule to reflect on your learning and apply to your job what you have learned. Your behaviour will not change simply because you have learned something from a book or training program. You have to consider what you will do and make time to implement it.
- Keep your reading source handy for quick reference as a means to improve your competencies.
- Always determine what you will do with your new information or insight. Set a new goal and act on it.
- After course completion, you may benefit from discussing your ideas and your action plan with a peer, a coach, a mentor, or your supervisor.
- Choose learning experiences that are relevant to your objectives and provide you with the best chance to practice and apply new information and skills.
